PLACERE PLACET

“An efficient bartender’s first aim should be to please his customers, paying particular attention to meet the individual wishes of those whose tastes and desires he has already watched and defined; and, with those whose peculiarities he hasn’t had the opportunity to learn, he should politely inquire how this guest wishes a beverage to be served, and use his best judgment in endeavoring to fulfil those desires to satisfaction. In this way he will not fail to acquire popularity and success.” –JERRY THOMAS

THROUGH THE AGES OF BARTENDING

Our menu focuses on the classic cocktails that helped define certain periods of bartending history and culture. We move through chronologically and attempt to shine a light on each of their creators to gain a more complete understanding of what, why, and where.

1862 WHITE LION £25

Jerry Thomas was the first Bartender to write a cocktail book; the "Bar-tender's Guide" still remains a source of inspiration for bartenders all around the world. A fruity sweet-and-sour style cocktail, we take our recipe from an evolved version published in 1913's "Straub's Manual of Mixing Drinks" which calls for bitters and raspberry syrup.

Doorly's 3yo, Appleton Estate 12yo, Grand Marnier, Raspberry syrup, Lime juice, Bitters

1899 SINGAPORE SLING £25

In the late 1800's, the Gin Sling was a popular drink in Singapore. The ruby red colour we affiliate with the drink nowadays appears in a newspaper article from 1903. Most anecdotal evidence credits Ngiam Tong Boon for this cocktail's creation during his tenure at the Long Bar in the Raffles Hotel. An aromatic and energetic tippie.

No.3 Gin, Cherry Heering, Benedictine, Pineapple juice, Grenadine syrup, Lime juice, Bitters

1905 SPUMONI £25

Save the date, 21st of August is Spumoni Day. As a culinary dish, it is a sweet treat originating from Naples comprised of several layers of ice cream and candied fruit. The drink is from Japan and resembles an Italian aperitivo. It is so popular in Tokyo that it even got its own episode in the animation "Bartender". Pairs perfectly with a slice of pizza.

Campari, Fresh Grapefruit juice, Tonic water

1905 AFFINITY COCKTAIL £25

"There's another new cocktail on Broadway" says the New York Sun in 1909. We find the first mention of this drink in the 1907 book by Jacob A. Didier "The Reminder: Bartenders' Vest Pocket Guide". After a sip, the green grass surrounds you, birds sing in the fig trees, and your affinity appears.

Aberfeldy 12yo, 1757 Red Vermouth, Noilly Prat, Bitters

- 1920      CHILCANO      £25
- Not to be confused with the Peruvian fish soup, Chilcano de Pescado, this drink's name is derived from the dish due to its colour, and the effect of aromatic bitters. This is a traditional way of serving pisco: a refreshing and gingery highball.
- Barsol Pisco, Lime juice, Ginger juice, Ginger ale, Bitters*
- 1920      BETWEEN THE SHEETS      £25
- Conventional wisdom credits this cocktail to Harry MacElhone of Harry's Bar in Paris. It's very likely MacElhone adapted a similar cocktail born during American Prohibition which then travelled to Europe, swapping gin for brandy to create the recipe we now know.
- H by Hine, Doorly's white rum, Cointreau, Lemon juice*
- 1925      CHAMPS ELYSEES      £25
- The most beautiful avenue in the world has its own cocktail. We can trace its roots back to 1925 in Nina Toye and Arthur H. Adair's "Drinks - Long and Short," featuring two made-in-France ingredients. This cocktail brings together the fruitiness of the cognac with the complexity of a famous French herbal liquor.
- H by Hine, Green Chartreuse, Lemon juice, Bitters*
- 1930      BLOOD AND SAND      £25
- First mentioned in the Savoy Cocktail book in 1930, the drink takes its name from the Spanish novel "Sangre y Arena" by Vicente Blasco Ibáñez, which was then adapted for the big screen in 1922 and starred Rudolph Valentino. The rich red colour and the spicy taste nods to its title, providing a friendly introduction to whisky for anyone who might fear taking the plunge.
- Dewar's Illegal Mezcal finish, Cherry Heering, 1757 red vermouth, Orange juice*

- 1944      MAI TAI      £25
- In 1934, Victor Jules Bergeron, A.K.A. Trader Vic, opened his restaurant in Oakland, California. He served Polynesian food alongside Chinese, French and American dishes, but was best known for his cocktails. He served this concoction to two friends from Tahiti who said "mai tai-roa aé" which means "out of this world, the best". The name stuck, and the Mai Tai continues to transport us today.
- Doorly's 3yo, Doorly's XO, Trois Rivieres, Smith and Cross, Curacao, Lime juice, Orgeat syrup*
- 1959      YUKIGUNI      £25
- Keiichi Iyama won a bartending competition with this cocktail in 1959 and could be found still shaking the Yukiguni in his Kern Café & Bar in the city of Sakata, Yamagata Prefecture, until his passing in 2021 - 95 years young.
- Konik's Tail vodka, Cointreau, Lime Juice*
- 1970      JUNGLE BIRD      £25
- The Jungle Bird dates back to the 1970's when it was served as a welcome drink to the visitors in the former Kuala Lumpur Hilton. The cocktail was crafted by Jeffrey Ong inside the hotel's Aviary Bar, hence the drink's name. Powerful, dynamic and fruity - from London to Malaysia in one sip.
- Appleton Estate 12yo, Campari, Pineapple juice, Lime juice*
- 1980      RUSSIAN SPRING PUNCH      £28
- Fabricated from the volcanic mind of Dick Bradsell in the 1980's for the housewarming of Peter Kent and Hamish Bowles. As Bradsell remembers the party: "It was lethal, that thing. We had people falling down the stairs and dancing around in wild abandon."
- Vodka, Cassis and Framboise Liqueur, Lemon, Champagne Billecart-Salmon Brut Reserve*

1990 CANTARITOS £25

A traditional drink from Mexico typically served in the many corner-bars of the city of Jalisco. This cocktail is a direct descendant of the world- famous Paloma. It is a straight-forward and thirst-quenching cocktail served in a traditional Mexican earthenware cup.

Patron Silver Tequila, Fresh Orange juice, Fresh Grapefruit juice, Agave, Lime, Soda, Salt

2005 CHOCOLATE SAZERAC £25

A contemporary classic, made at Maze, London, by Tonin Kacaj. It keeps the core and soul of the original Sazerac cocktail from New Orleans intact, giving it a modern twist by including white cacao liqueur. Spirit-forward, spicy and rich – a perfect after-dinner drink for lovers of the Old Fashioned or Manhattan style.

Buffalo Trace bourbon, White Cacao liqueur, Absinthe, Peychaud's bitters

2007 OAXACAN OLD FASHIONED £25

Another Phil Ward libation from Death and Co. that immediately took the New York cocktail scene by storm. Created in 2007, it captures the true spirit of Mexico using various agave-based components. An earthy take on the classic old-fashioned cocktail.

Patron reposado tequila, Mezcal, Agave, Bitters

GIN

Behind its simple façade lies one of the world's best-loved spirits with a dark past and incredible story that spans hundreds of years. Gin has played a huge part in and shaped the development and history of more than one European country.

London Dry Gin

The term "London Dry" is essentially a quality designation. For a gin to be called London Dry Gin, the base spirit must be distilled to a completely neutral spirit of 96% ABV, must have all flavors added through distillation in presence of "natural plant materials," and can have nothing added after distillation - save water and a small quantity of sugar.

Distilled & Compound Gin

For a gin to be categorized as compound or distilled, the base spirit must be distilled to a neutral spirit of 96% ABV, as with London dry. The major difference is that the botanical elements and flavours are added not through re-distillation with raw ingredients, but added either from distilled 'essences' or blended with botanical flavourings. Distilled Gin also is any other gin that does not conform to the 'London Dry' pre-requisites.

TEQUILA & MEZCAL

Created from the core of the agave plant, indigenous to Central America. Many different styles have been established over the years. Whereas Tequila is made from 100% oven-roasted Blue Agave, Mezcal can be distilled from a large variety of Agave plants that have been slowly cooked and smoked in pits or stone ovens. The contrast of the final products is tremendous. It takes almost a lifetime to discover all the different nuances.

ARMAGNAC

Armagnac is a distinctive style of French brandy (grape distillate) produced in the heart of Gascony (southwest part of France). It is the oldest French eau-de-vie dating back to the year 1310 and can be produced from a total of ten different grape varieties as opposed to the three that define Cognac production. The Darroze family has devoted itself to its 2 driving passions for three generations: Cuisine, and Armagnac. Over almost 40 years, the Darroze collection has grown and today their cellars hold over 250 different Armagnacs from 30 estates, spanning more than 50 vintages. Darroze Armagnacs are considered by spirit lovers everywhere as some of the finest available.
